This preliminary summary of retail distribution in the United States in 1935 presents in convenient form the data contained in a series of preliminary State reports, published on various dates between August 13 and October 13, 1936. The statistics were gathered in 1936 by a field canvass of retailers in every State, city and county in the United States, with funds provided by the Works Progress Administration. Although the cooperation of retailers was voluntary, in the absence of legislation which in regular census periods makes reporting mandatory, only a few of those who reported for 1933 have refused to provide the necessary information for 1935. Except for these few refusals, the Bureau received the full cooperation of retailers throughout the country.

The figures herein are subject to correction and some additions, particularly in areas where field work continued after the closing date of the preliminary report. Additions will be reflected in the final series.

Retail reports are prepared under the supervision of John Guernsey, Distribution Economist for the Census Bureau, by Ira D. Anderson, Retail Assistant, Hugh Duffey, James O. Reid and Irvin Heine.

Reproduction of the long-form Retail schedule used in compiling the data. (For stores of less than $50,000 annual volume a shorter form was used, identical with the long form except for the section devoted to commodity data (numbered 10), which is condensed to a simple check-list of 29 commodity classifications, without dollar volume)..... 149

The purpose in including a copy of the schedule in this preliminary report is to answer the question frequently asked: "What data will be available in the final reports, and what commodities will be shown in the analysis of sales by commodities?"

RETAIL DISTRIBUTION IN 1935

(Preliminary)

Retail sales in the United States in 1935 exceeded $32,790,000,000, an increase of 31 percent over the 1933 total, it is announced by William L. Austin, Director, Bureau of the Census, in a preliminary nation-wide summary of the Retail Census, a part of the current Census of Business.

Director Austin cautions that the preliminary figures do not contain full returns from five States where the field canvass is incomplete, nor scattered schedules from other States received after the respective State reports were issued. The final Retail Census reports, to be published as soon as completed, will contain these additional returns, with a corresponding increase in the totals.

In the 1,649,081 stores included in this summary, reported sales in 1935 totalled $32,790,267,000, which compares with $25,037,225,000 reported in the 1933 census by 1,526,119 stores. The sales increase of 31 percent since 1933 is in contrast to a sharp decrease between 1929 and 1933, which for the United States amounted to 49 percent of the 1929 volume.

Sales are still nearly one-third lower in dollar volume than during 1929, but a substantial part of the difference is caused by the difference in price levels in the two years.

The number of stores so far reported is 8 percent higher than the total shown for 1933, and 7 percent higher than the number of stores in 1929.

The number of employees reported to date increased from 3,433,652 in 1933 to 3,899,927 in 1935, or 14 percent. At the same time, total pay roll increased 23 percent from an aggregate of $2,910,445,000 in 1933 to $3,568,398,000 in 1935. Full-time pay roll increased 25 percent, partly offset by a small decrease in part-

Preliminary reports show only stores, sales, active proprietors, employees and pay roll. The figures are subject to some correction and to the addition of schedules received after the closing date, which was usually about 10 days before each respective State report was released. In five States the field canvass continued beyond the preliminary closing date.

Final reports will follow as rapidly as they are completed. Area tables will show stores, sales, personnel and pay roll for each city and town of more than 2,500 population and for remainder of each county; and stores and sales by kinds of business (54 classifications in cities of more than 50,000, and 12 classifications in smaller places and for each county). Other tables will present data in considerable detail on operating expenses, rental rates, employment by months, pay rolls, types of operation (independents, chains, mail order, house-to-house, etc.), credit businesses, distribution of sales by size of business and by city-size groups, and the nature and proportion of the various commodities sold by each kind of store. For list of commodities, see Schedule, page 149.

Special-subject reports will include tables and pertinent census facts on food retailing, liquor retailing, apparel retailng, the retailing of automobiles, gasoline and oil, furniture and household appliance retailing, drug retailing, and others.

time pay roll. It is not possible from the figures to compute employees' average annual earnings, since no separate tabulation of full-time employees is yet available, but employment and pay roll data in considerable detail and by functional classes of employees will be included in the final reports.

Active proprietors of unincorporated businesses are not included in the count of employees nor in pay roll. They totalled 1,510,094 in 1935, compared with 1,574,341 in 1933, and 1,510,607 in 1929.

A comparative summary of the above facts follows:

	1935	Percent Change 1933 to 1935	1933	Percent Change 1929 to 1933	1929
Number of Stores	1,649,081	+ 8	1,526,119	- 1	1,543,158

Pay Roll - total	$ 3,568,398,000	+23	$ 2,910,445,000	-44	$ 5,189,670,000
Full-time	3,334,721,000	+25	2,664,447,000	-47	5,028,282,000
Part-time	233,677,000	- 5	245,998,000	+52	161,388,000

Comparisons by Kinds of Business

Although totals are comparable except for the additional schedules to come, and after allowance for the transfer of some classifications to other Censuses, comparisons by kinds of business and by major groups are subject to some qualification by reason of a number of unavoidable shifts between classifications. Principal causes are: (1) more complete information in 1935 than in 1933, permitting more accurate classification of individual stores; (2) the policy of classifying dual-line stores according to the principal commodities sold; and (3) changes in the character of the business, resulting from changes in consumer demand. There was a pronounced decrease between 1929 and 1933 in the sales of apparel, furniture, hardware, building materials, farmers' supplies, and motor vehicles, and there has been a marked increase since 1933. Retailers selling any of these commodities in substantially equal proportion to other major commodities (such as furniture and hardware, groceries and feed, clothing and general merchandise, or coal and building materials) are quite likely to have changed the relative proportions of the sales of such commodities since 1933 and consequently the classification of their stores, even resulting in some cases in shifts from one major group to another.

The effect on comparisons, except State totals, varies in different States depending upon the prevalence of such dual-line stores, but in most States they account for such a small volume of sales as to have little effect except on a few kind-of-business classifications.

Subject to the qualifications described above, a comparison between major groups for the three Census years follows:

Kind of Business	1935	Percent Change 1933 to 1935	1933	Percent Change 1929 to 1933	1929

NC - Not comparable. a - Excludes New Hampshire liquor stores, combined with food stores to avoid disclosure.

In addition, there have been transferred from the Retail Census to other censuses more than 29,500 bakeries, garages, heating and plumbing shops and electrical shops, doing business directly with consumers and heretofore classified as retail. For the most part, the retail sales of these establishments will be reported in the censuses of Manufactures, Service and Construction respectively.

The current Census has been affected by incomplete coverage, because of inability to obtain schedules from a small number of concerns. This shortage is largely due to the absence of the legislation which during regular census years makes reporting mandatory.

In the food group, which shows an increase of 23% exclusive of liquor-store sales, the increases in grocery stores (22%) and meat markets (24%) are less than the 29% increase for combination stores (grocery stores selling fresh meats). Many delicatessen stores of 1933 have become primarily grocery stores, and are so classified in 1935. Some dairies classed as retail milk dealers in 1933 have been excluded because they are shown in the Manufactures Census as producers of ice cream and other manufactured dairy products. No attempt was made to cover farmer dairies in 1935; only those with recognized retail places of business are included within the scope of the current Retail Census. There is shown a 48% decrease in bakery sales, due to the inclusion exclusively in the 1935 Manufactures Census of bakeries whose value of products exceeded $5,000 for the year, some of which were included in previous Retail Censuses because their sales were at retail. The report on Distribution of Manufacturers' Sales (part of the Census of Business) will disclose the extent of sales of manufacturing bakeries direct to the consumer.

The report shows 12,063 beer and liquor stores with sales of $325,071,000. The corresponding figure for 1933 was only $16,730,000, since national prohibition was not repealed until December, 1933. Nearly 98,000 drinking places are shown, with sales in 1935 of $723,996,000.

In the automotive group, which shows an increase of 60%, places classified as garages in 1933 which later became sales agencies for motor cars are now classified as motor-vehicle dealers. The number of motor-vehicle dealers increased from 30,646 in 1933 to 35,017 in 1935, and their sales increased 82%.

The apparel group, which also includes shoe stores, shows a total of 95,147 stores with sales in 1935 of $2,598,250,000, an increase of 35% over the sales of 1933. Shoe stores, practically unchanged in number from the 18,836 shown in 1933, report an increase in sales of 16%. Department stores, several of which are not yet included, show a 22% increase in sales, and variety stores show an 18% increase. Schedules from some of the missing stores are being secured, and will be included in the final report.

In the lumber-hardware group, which shows an increase of 38%, a number of heating and plumbing shops and electrical shops have been transferred to the Construction Census, leaving in the Retail Census only those dealers whose business is primarily the sale of equipment and supplies as such, rather than through installation and repair work. The sales of lumber and building material retailers increased 43%, hardware stores 50%, and hardware and farm implement dealers 62%.

Significant of the trends disclosed by the Census are the following comparisons by kinds of business, shown on page 11:

Employment and Pay Rolls

The largest employment is shown by the food group, with a total of 755,324 full-time and part-time employees. It is followed by the general merchandise group (dry goods, variety, and department stores) with 699,100 employees, and by the eating and drinking-place group with 642,682. The food group also shows the largest pay roll, totalling $675,184,000. It is followed by the general merchandise group with $576,992,000, and the automotive group with $436,305,000 plus $174,409,000 in filling stations.

Comparisons by States

Excepting the five States where field enumeration is continuing, the largest increases in sales have been registered by the Mountain States (47%) and the Pacific Coast States (39%).

The East South-Central States show an average increase of 35 percent; East North-Central States, 33 percent; West North-Central States, 32 percent; South Atlantic States, 32 percent; and the West South-Central States, 31 percent. In New England the average increase in sales since 1933 is 27 percent; in the Middle Atlantic States the showing is inconclusive, due to incomplete returns from New York State.

In half of the States the increase in sales, 1933 to 1935, was 35 percent or better. Four States show better than 50 percent, and 12 States show better than 40 percent. Data for all States are presented in detail in this report.

Included in this summary are detailed tables for 1935 showing the number of stores, sales, proprietors, employees, and pay roll by kinds of business, for the United States and for each State, and separately for each city of more than 500,000 population. There are two summary tables for 1933, reproduced from the Retail Census of that year, providing comparisons also with 1929 by States.

Included also are 62 tables, one for each kind of business and each major group, showing the distribution of the business by States.

This preliminary summary report will be followed by a final series in substantially the detail provided in the 1929 and 1933 Retail Censuses, including types of operation (independents, chains, etc.), area tables showing sales by counties and cities, analyses of sales by commodities, credit data, expense data including rentals and pay rolls, and employment data in considerable detail.

In addition to retail trade, the current Business Census includes wholesale trade, service businesses, entertainment enterprises, hotels, broadcast stations and networks, construction, truck and bus transportation, warehousing, advertising agencies, the insurance business and banking.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Kind-of-business classifications are not interchangeable with commodity classifications. Food stores, for instance, sell more than food, and food also is sold in other kinds of stores, including variety, general and department stores. Apparel, furniture, and drugs are sold in many stores not classified primarily as apparel, furniture or drug stores. Final reports will include tables showing the breakdown of sales by commodities. Stores are classified according to the principal lines or commodities sold, not always the same as their popular designation. See brief descriptions under "Kinds of Business" below.

Dual-line stores (such as furniture and hardware, groceries and feed, clothing and general merchandise or coal and building materials) which might take either of two classifications, are classified according to the lines which predominate currently. Hence there are some shifts from year to year, but in most States they account for such a small volume of sales as to have little effect on totals.

Qualifications and remarks contained within parentheses after each kind-of-business classification below are pertinent in any use of Census figures, and in comparisons with previous years. The Bureau stresses these additional qualifications:

1 - Some automobile service establishments formerly in Retail are included in the Service census; some bakeries and lumber dealers (planing mills) in the Manufactures census; some dairies, motor-vehicle dealers and hardware dealers in the Wholesale census; and some heating, plumbing and electrical shops in the Construction census, based on the nature of the principal business of each such establishment.

2 - There have been refusals on the part of a considerable number of retailers, affecting the totals of some cities and of the States in which they are located, and adversely affecting the showing of some kinds of business.

3 - We were unable to obtain complete coverage in some States, particularly in parts of Colorado, Illinois, Maryland, Missouri and New York, where the field canvass is being continued. In other states minor additions will be reflected in the final reports, as a result of delayed schedules still being received.

Stores are places of business predominately retail in character, in and from which goods are sold to ultimate consumers for consumption or utilization. The number includes filling stations, garages, market stands, lumber and coal yards, eating and drinking places, mail-order houses, district offices of house-to-house canvassers, and leased departments, as well as stores.

Sales include the sale of merchandise and meals (together with incidental repairs and services), both on credit and for cash. Sales taxes are included. Sales are net, in that returned goods have been deducted. Various analyses of sales will be available in the final reports (see Schedule, page 149), including figures on instalment and open-account credit.

Proprietors (active proprietors and firm members) are proprietor-owners devoting the major portion of their time to the business. They are not included in the count of employees, nor is their compensation included in pay roll. Corporate officers and executives of corporations are not proprietors.

Employees as shown in these preliminary reports represent the number of full-time and part-time paid employees, evereged for the year (total employee-months divided by 12), including executive employees of corporations, except employees and executives of the central offices and warehouses of chains. Final reports will include the latter, as well as an analysis of employment and wages by functional classes (see Schedule, page 149).

Pay Roll consists of salaries, wages, bonuses and commissions paid to reported employees, classified to show full-time and part-time compensation separately.

Average annual earnings of full-time employees cannot be computed from the data presented herein, but will be available in the final reports.

Operating expenses will be shown in the final reports, which also will include separate data on rents.

Stocks on hand will be shown in the final reports.

Types of operation (independents, chains, mail-order, house-to-house, etc.). Final reports will present tables showing a breakdown of the various data according to types of operation.

KINDS OF BUSINESS

All stores are classified in this preliminary report into 54 classifications, as follows:

Food Group (includes liquor stores in most States)
- Candy and confectionery stores (includes nut stores)
- Dairy products and egg-poultry-milk dealers (except farmer dairies)
- Delicatessen stores (except those reporting substantial sales of groceries)
- Fruit stores and vegetable markets
- Grocery stores without fresh meats (includes delicatessen stores with substantial sales of groceries)
- Combination stores (groceries and fresh meats)
- Meat markets (including sea food markets)
- Bakeries and caterers (except manufacturers whose value of product exceeds $5,000)
- Other food stores (principally coffee-tea-spice routes, bottled soft drinks and waters). (Includes liquor stores in New Hampshire)

Beer and liquor stores (packaged) including wine stores. (New Hampshire figures excluded)

General Stores with Food (country general stores)

General Merchandise Group
- Dry goods and general merchandise stores under $100,000 per year. (Includes leased pattern departments)
- Department stores (over $100,000 per year) and mail-order houses selling general merchandise
- Variety, 5-and-10, Limited-price Stores

Apparel Group
- Men's furnishings stores (including boys')
- Men's clothing and furnishings stores (including boys')
- Family clothing stores (men's, women's, children's - usually including shoes)

- Custom tailors (individual orders - does not include pressing and repair shops)
- Accessories and other apparel stores (hosiery, corset, knit goods, blouse, umbrella shops, mail-order apparel houses)
- Shoe stores (including leased shoe departments)

Automotive Group (except filling stations)
- Motor-vehicle (new) dealers (includes sale of trade-ins)
- Used-car dealers (does not include sale of trade-ins by new-car agencies)
- Accessories, tire and battery dealers (includes most tire-company service stations)
- Garages - repair only (does not include parking and storage garages, nor body-fender-paint-radiator shops)
- Other automotive (aircraft, motorcycle, motor boat, trailer dealers)

Filling Stations (including those garages and tire-company stations whose principal sales are of gasoline and oil)

Furniture-household-radio Group
- Furniture stores (including some furniture-hardware and furniture-undertaker)
- Floorcoverings-drapery stores
- Household appliance and radio stores
- Radio dealers (except those selling household appliances)
- Other homefurnishings stores (aluminumware-brush dealers, chinaware-picture-lamp stores, antique shops, interior decorating, etc.)

Lumber-building-hardware Group

- Hardware stores (predominantly retail only - including some hardware-furniture stores)
- Hardware and farm implement dealers
- Heating & plumbing equipment dealers (excluding plumbers, heating, air-conditioning contractors)
- Paint, glass, wall-paper stores
- Electrical supply stores (excluding electricians and contractors whose business is primarily installation and repairs)

Eating and Drinking-place Group
- Restaurants, cafeterias, lunch rooms (receipts include some liquor sales)
- Lunch counters, refreshment stands (soft drinks)
- Drinking places (by the glass - sales frequently include meals)

Drug Stores (Group)
- Drug stores with fountain
- Drug stores without fountain

Other Retail Stores
- Cigar stores and cigar stands
- Florists (excluding greenhouses)
- Fuel and ice dealers (including fuel-oil distributors)
- Hay, grain and feed stores
- Farm and garden supply stores (seed stores, farmers' supplies at retail)
- Jewelry stores
- News dealers (excludes magazine and newspaper subscription sales offices)
- Other classifications (bicycle, book, gift, luggage, monument, music, office supply and equipment, sporting goods, stationery and other store classifications)

Second-hand stores (clothing, shoes, furniture, tires, pawn shops and others, except used-car dealers)

PURPOSE, PLAN AND SCOPE OF THE BUSINESS CENSUS

The Census of Business, of which the Retail census is a part, is a nation-wide enumeration of all places of business falling within its scope as defined below. The information was gathered in 1935 on schedules or questionnaires limited to essentials, as determined by representative business men in each field, who cooperated with the Census Bureau in an effort to meet the insistent demands of business for a wider scope than was provided in the 1933 census. The latter was limited to retail trade, wholesale trade, service businesses, amusement enterprises and hotels.

The purpose was to provide dependable information on all branches of American business, except those fields regularly covered by other divisions of the Census Bureau such as manufactures, mines, and quarries, religious bodies, agriculture and population. Due to the difficulty of enumeration in new fields, some modifications have been made. Professional and some semi-professional fields are omitted, but the current Business Census when completed will include the following:

Retail trade, wholesale trade, service businesses, theaters and other amusement enterprises, hotels and tourist camps, broadcast stations and networks, banking and other financial institutions, insurance carriers and agencies, advertising agencies, the construction industries, truck and bus transportation, and warehousing.

Much information is being gathered in all fields on business employment and pay rolls, amount and proportion of part-time employment, and representative wages by functional classes. It is planned to bring this data together in a special report on Business Employment and Pay Rolls.

CENSUS SOURCES OF BUSINESS DATA

This is the third business census, others having covered the years 1929 and 1933. But for nearly 150 years (since 1790) business has had the benefit of a population census at 10-year intervals with data on the location, composition and characteristics of the population. For 125 years (since 1810) there has been a census of manufactures, supplying regular measurement of production activities and employment, materials used, power consumed, and quantity and value of products. There are periodical censuses of the electrical industries, of the financial status of States and cities and of religious bodies. Each five years a census of agriculture presents data on the nature and value of farm products, cash income of farmers, farm population and employment, acreage, and the value of land and buildings.

Previous business censuses have presented data on the number of retail, wholesale and service businesses, amusement enterprises and hotels; where located; the amount of sales, expenses and payrolls; the number of employees; and much supplemental data. The current Business Census will bring these facts up to the end of 1935, and add similar facts for the additional fields of business described above. It will also provide the basis for an approximation of total sales by commodities, both retail and wholesale, by States and by kinds of business, comparable to the commodity data provided in the 1929 business census.

PRELIMINARY UNITED STATES SUMMARY

RETAIL DISTRIBUTION: 1935

SECTION TWO

For convenience of reference, there are reproduced on the following pages the preliminary State summary tables which were contained in the several State reports published between August 13 and October 13, 1936, and similar tables for the 13 cities of more than 500,000 population. These tables analyze the reported sales, personnel and pay roll data by kinds of business.

In addition there are included in this Section (pages 145 to 148) reproductions of four summary tables from the 1933 Retail Census. Two show data by kinds of business (table 1A) and by States (table IB) comparable generally to the summary tables for 1935 (pages 15 and 17). Two (table A) provide comparisons with 1929 of stores, sales and pay roll, although they also contain data (full time employees, average annual earnings and stocks) for which similar figures are not yet available for 1935.

At the end of the Section is included a copy of the long-form Retail schedule used in gathering the data for the current census. Its contents will indicate the character of the additional data to be expected in the final series of reports, and Section 10 of the Schedule lists the 54 major commodity groups and 158 commodity classifications which will be shown in the analysis of retail sales by commodities.

CONFIDENTIAL GOVERNMENT REPORT

Section 8 of the Act creating the Department of Commerce and Labor, approved February 14, 1903, provides that: "The Secretary of Commerce shall from time to time make such special investigations and reports * * * which he himself may deem necessary and urgent." Acting upon this authority, I have authorized and instructed the Director of the Census to take a Census of Business covering the calendar year 1935. We ask for the cooperation and assistance of the business men of the United States in this undertaking and assure them that their individual reports will be held absolutely confidential. Only sworn employees of the Bureau of the Census will be permitted to examine your report, and no information will be given to any person, whether in Government service or private life, which would disclose, exactly or approximately, any of the facts or figures in your report. The information will be used for statistical purposes only.

DANIEL C. ROPER, Secretary of Commerce.

CENSUS OF BUSINESS: 1935

A separate report on this form should be prepared for each retail establishment or unit (including filling stations, service garages, restaurants, etc.) with total receipts for the year 1935 of $50,000 or over. Consolidated reports covering the operations of two or more retail establishments under the same ownership or management will be accepted on Form 21, only if each such consolidated report includes all the retail units in the same kind of business located either (a) within the corporate limits of one city or town of 2,500 population or over, or (b) in places of less than 2,500 population and unincorporated places of one county. For each consolidated report on Form 21 a report must also be prepared on the listing sheet (Form 21-A), listing all retail units included in the consolidated report.

The report should cover, if possible, the full year's operations for the calendar year 1935, even if ownership has changed during the year. If more convenient, a twelve-month period ending within a month before or after December 31, 1935, may be covered.
